fireworks and floats set off this years homecoming which was one of the many responsibilities of student government. among their other duties were king and queen of courts, pep rallies and assemblies, and the carnival student government worked under north's new constitution which, among other things, incorporated two new activities coordinators and a house of representatives...sophs and juniors are eligible to be activities coordinators, the first student body office open to underclassmen house involved in curriculum, justice the student house of representatives divided itself into five standing committees: campus, curriculum, student issues, student relations, and judicial committee campus committee studied all physical campus improvement, such as remodeling the cafeteria and beautifying the campus. the curriculum committee reviewed and recommended revisions in hopes of creating new classes and having student evaluations of teachers. the student issues committee dealt with administrative policies—presenting the students' views on attendance policies, homeroom, and student rights. the student relations committee concerned themselves with trying to improve relations and relieve tensions between students, teachers, administrators, and the community. the judicial committee handled constitutional matters and became involved in the state and community government student government adds house of representatives this year we operated under a new constitution. the major change was the addition of a house of representatives, whose main goal was to make the school serve the students consisting of class vice-presidents, class representatives, and a representative from every club, the house discussed such topics of student concern as school policies, student curriculum, and school facilities in their meetings, held twice a month, the members of the house learned much about the principles of democracy and representative government, gained leadership, and found self-respect in the democratic directions of north former a.s.u. pom sponsors 74-75 lines.

pom and cheer lines are an integral part of every high school. through workshop, tryouts, summer then morning practices and performances, they put in several hours of hard work this summer the cheers left the hot desert and spent it up in the mountains at cheerleader camp the poms this fall, participated in the a.s.u. band day, all in all pom and cheer lines work hard to promote spirit at north.

elections committee headed by jim stanley, used new locations for student elections with some old methods of voting such as the punching of one's id card. voting in classrooms was tried but problems arose when the committee discovered how low the voter response had been. voting methods were again placed outside during the lunch hours or after the assembly that concerned the election pep club contained people wanting to get other people involved in spirit. their appearances came during games and lunchtime activities, a spirited direction of north spikettes, matmaids, marvel lend team support year round what do the matmaids and spikettes really do? they provide our boys with lots of ice and delicious jell-o.

at the cross country meets, the spikettes are placed at intervals on the course to guide the runners. they act as official runners and scorers at the track meets.

the matmaids keep score for the wrestlers; and to give them energy they serve them orange slices. both groups' main purpose is to help support north's teams.

as a matter of fact, madrigals is a culmination of ... hours of practicing; losing your voice; trying to dance while you sing, putting on a polished performance; three little tenors trying to balance with five big basses; four good altos, and five loud sopranos, learning how to smile; learning how to sing; working as a team; the whole team forgetting the music at solo and ensemble; performing at school recitals, the urban league open house, the capital rotunda, and private parties; not being able to find a piano for a christmas performance; being the top singing group at north, and heading in the directions of success dual registration programs and after-school jobs took their toll on the membership of many clubs while the recession hit hard in the area of fund raising. the usual money makers—car washes, food sales and other projects-added negligible amounts to treasuries. the co-op work clubs flourished in the midst of these problems.

north had its first volleyball team this year. they were coached by miss rosenthal. the varsity and junior varsity teams both consisted of ten members gayle jackson served as captain of the varsity team, while donna colbert served as junior varsity captain. "the girls really have done a good job for their first year," replied miss rosenthal, "but next year they'll even do better!"

directions of athletics the girl's athletic association is taking a big leap into athletics. the girls will be able to compete in sports equally with the boys, but competing only with their own sex in addition to the girl's volleyball and golf teams, a track team has been formed. ms. fields, coach of the track team, explained that many of the outstanding athletes are already involved in aaU clubs and; therefore, ineligible for high school competition. a state meet has been postponed until next year. in the future, one may expect to see girl's softball and basketball teams. another new direction for sports n.h.s. recognizes academic prowess being a member of the national honor society means having a sense of pride. members are chosen out of the top 5% of their junior class by a faculty honors committee. new members are induced each may from the top 5% of the junior class and the top 10% of the senior class being a member of the national honor society also means being active with a book sale, a cook-out, and the spring pioneer picnic.

"i think being a member of the national honor society is an honor and adds a little more to your senior year in high school. it is also a good recommendation for admission to college."

the direction of honors the success of the honors program is the result of students who take the time to fill out applications and pay fees to have a chance at an award, counselors who inform students of available awards and honors, and a few concerned community organizations and businesses that provide youths with opportunities for financial aid based on talent, leadership, and intelligence.

tradition plays a role in the honors program in that the titles are the same from year to year. the student-of-the-month awards have been awarded since their introduction by the optimists, a service club. some now receive certificates instead of a trophy and a luncheon. the survival of the honors program will depend on future concern in the directions of north.

class of '75 seeks new directions the senior class under the sponsorship of cheryl abrams and miss nebert faced such dilemmas as whether the girls would wear white or red caps and gowns while the guys wore blue; where to hold the senior banquet; when to hold graduation ceremonies and how to finance their off-campus activities juniors led by ladies during a year of economic recession, the class of '76, led by three female officers, struggled to raise money for the prom. with inflation forcing the cost of facilities and bands up and recession making money scarce, the ladies led their classmates through a year of many and varied fund raising projects the junior class was sponsored by two department heads, ms judy beuchel (home ec) and mr. hank thomas (science) frosh vary old directions the open system within the phoenix union high school district brings many students to north from the five different elementary schools within our area as well as from other grade schools all over the city to help the students learn about what the city has to offer, the social studies department offered a course to frosh aimed at acquainting them with the phoenix community. mr. scott taught living and working in phoenix the class was sponsored by mr. carl wagner and miss judy beckmark.

direction of classes

reading, writing, 'rithmetic, the three r's every student should know. now proficiency tests make sure they do know their reading and math, and soon their writing as well new directions of north include the dropping of traditional courses such as calculus and sociology due to low enrollment the reading department has expanded to meet the academic needs of today's students, while the work programs have grown in variety and size to meet their economic needs student - planned curriculum seems to emphasize high school graduation, rather than college preparation. a new direction in classes at north high

"happy days" for carol, trini this year's homecoming began with a "bang"! fireworks highlighted the beginning and end of each quarter of the game. also, this year honored the class of 1971. "nostalgia" returned to north with the girls in bobby socks and ponytails and the guys in dark shades and slicked down hair. "happy days" was the theme for the floats, with the juniors placing first they were judged on originality, completeness, and general appearance following the judging, "master of ceremonies", coach and counselor, mr. martin announced the 1974-75 teacher of the year, speech coach mr. bruce trexler he sure wasn't speechless!

last year's queen, cheryl myers, was present at half-time to crown queen candidate and co-captain of the cheerline, carol robinson. filling in for last year's king, dan moody, keith randall handed over the medallion to king candidate and great cross country runner, trini balderrama. the band, twirlers, poms, madrigals, cheers, and jrotc performed during the halftime the game concluded with the mustangs beaten by the panthers 46-6 and the homecoming dance in the corral.

a spirited game against maryvale was followed by a crowded dance in the corral spirit week preceded the celebration and included egg tosses, tug-of-wars, and pie auctions. money paid by students for the privilege of smearing student government faces with pies went to the muscular dystrophy association

 Second, find a quiet place to study.
 Third, avoid distractions.

"up the down staircase" another drama hit at north

"up the down staircase" put on by the north high little theater was a big hit; one of the highlights of the year! the action on stage intrigued the many viewers and aroused much laughter and applause the hard working drama students, directed by vandi schilleci, were all excellent pam bunting, a junior at north this year, portrayed the sensitive young teacher with a natural talent for acting, and understanding of her part. in the lead role as sylvia barrett, she was vivacious, yet appropriately subtle the many hours of rehearsals were rewarded by the audience's approval. the familiar setting, the classroom, involved many students in the plot; and allowed them to relate to the students and their problems editors message

in this yearbook, the staff, our advisor and i have tried to present a realistic view of north high trying to produce something other than a collection of portrait and candid pictures has been a challenge because of past yearbook policy. the plans for this book were made with optimism and quality in mind. deadlines, a staff of 24 reduced to less than a dozen, a poor economy and an unbelievable lack of organization has prevented this book from being what i wished to present to the student body, however, i present hoofbeats 1975 with pride knowing how much time has been put into it. i once explained to the staff that it is always worth taking more time to produce something really good. i hope they practice this during their lives. layout staff members, molly, jackie, kay, kathy, laurie, greg and terry; photographers, jerry, greg, tony, raul, kathy and jay; ad manager; van; copy staff, karol, brenda and jeff, all of you, thanks for redoing layouts, re-printing pictures until an ultimate is reached, returning phone calls daily and changing the conotation of a particular sentence for me. i believe it bettered the book. i must offer a thanks and apology to mrs. tomi fields who was abused by the staff and myself. i hope she remembers those 2:30 am deadlines with as much happiness as i will new administration means new directions—new people, new duties, new programs two new administrative assistants and a new position for mrs. workman gave a new look to the administrative offices

mrs. workman, who came to north in 1954 as dean of girls, became the new associate principal miss mizerny, formerly a camelback counselor, replaced mrs. workman as administrative asst. she had charge of activities, public relations, and discipline

mr. powers, administrative asst., moved to north from his position as athletic department chairman at maryvale

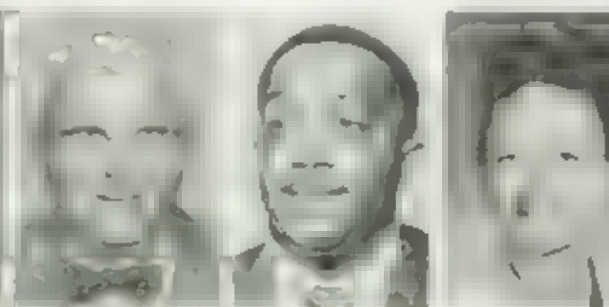

mrs. carolyn warner, member and past president of the school board, was elected state superintendant of education. she moved from the puhss board room to her new office in january, 1975.

guidance and services offered new programs for both the exceptional and ordinary student the counseling-guidance offices and career center were moved to their newly remodeled LA 47. the career center helped students learn about various career fields and themselves through seminars, field trips, and vocational tests.

special classes were available for those students with hearing, seeing, speaking, or learning problems through trained clinicians and the new learning disabilities program.

faculty, guidance, and services departments worked together to help each student realize his full potential and prepare for his future.

h.e.r.o., home economics related occupations, was added to the work experience programs offered by the business and industrial arts departments.

the title I program in math emphasized basic skills and helped students prepare for the required minimum proficiency test in arithmetic skills.

students learned both artistic and vocational skills in the new class in photography offered by the industrial arts department.

new faculty members were added to point the students who elected to take these new courses in new directions many people keep north running smoothly keeping the buildings and grounds clean, distributing athletic eligibility cards, keeping attendance records and class schedules up to date, serving hot meals, keeping the campus safe, ordering and selling texts, and many other behind-the-scenes operations are necessary to keep north high running smoothly for students and faculty direction of faculty

new technology and renewed public interest in basic skills and scholarship enabled the faculty to take new directions in personalizing each student's education. through the use of computers, special programs, and labs, teachers encouraged each student to achieve his academic potential both the faculty and students mourned the passing of dorothea white. during her twenty-five years in the phoenix union high school system, mrs. white opened the library at west and at camelback. she joined the english faculty at north in 1962 where she is remembered for her energy, enthusiasm, steadfastness in holding to standards of both behavior and performance, her willingness to share her talents and ideas with others, and her interest in her students a scholarship fund was established to provide a living memorial to this lady's lifelong dedication to students and education

GRADUATE: IF YOU'RE WONDERING...

You have a tough choice. Picking a career with a good future—with free training — from one of over 400 jobs. Deciding where to go free during your 30 days paid vacation the first year. Knowing that all your medical dental expenses are taken care of and that your food housing and clothing are free. Taking responsibility immediately after training in one of many locations around the world. Yes, it's a tough choice. You'll love every minute of it.

Hi Martin,

You know you really can be a real son of a b... but despite that fact I think you are a real cutie you son of a b... I'm serious for once - I think you are making a mistake, but if you go back I'm here for. Back to Martin if you would call me by my name on a list of your pet names - I would appreciate it. But boys will be boys. Remember all the times in the past you haven't forgone me. How decent. How pure. Since you are not in the future - you need it.

Hi Dear,

How is my good looking ^{boyfriend} Denny?

I just ~~so~~ wanted to say that I'm really glad that I met you, you made my life so good. I'm really glad that we found each other. Even if I am still going to. But for a while but still love you, nothing can stop me from loving you.

I hope that I get to visit you soon so I can be with you all day and everyday. You, a good kid Brown and Spunky loves you very much

And remember from 11 am well be having a lot of good times. And I am really looking ~~is~~ forward to the day I see you always

Marlin,
You are a great photographer and a nice person. But remember, I am has got to go see you next year, I hope!

Marlin I didn't really get to know you that good but I am sure you're a good friend to have. I understand you are on the wrestling team I use to but I quit, as well
see you later

Marlin
 had a good year here at north because you can use one in a while and I'll see you next year and now I'll leave you with

Marlin, I've been a great year. I had to laugh when at the first of the year Mar Thompson called Marlyn. Be Good.

Marlin,
 It sure has been fun in photo this year. You a very good photographer and if you stick with it I'll get you a job for Playboy magazine. Well have a nice summer and I'll see you next year.
